

DRESS PARADES

By the Gallant West Virginia National Guardsmen

DOWN AT CAMP BLENNERHASSETT

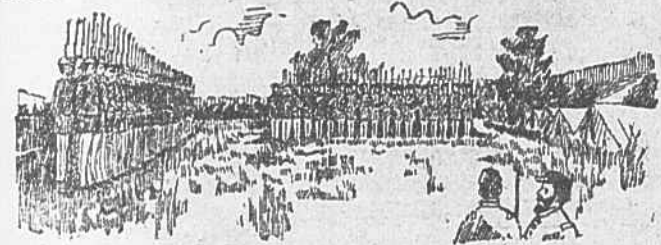

Are Attractive Features of the State Encampment—The Camp Visited by Many People—Gossip About the Soldier Boys—The Captains and Their Characteristics.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

CAMP BLENNERHASSETT, W. VA., July 21.—The first dress parade at the Second annual encampment of the West Virginia National Guard given last night was a success. It was witnessed by several thousand people, and every officer and soldier, realizing the situation, did his duty, the officers giving their orders in sonorous tones and every soldier responding promptly.

The camp presented a scene of busy activity all day and this evening the second dress parade of the guard attracted an immense crowd. The parade was creditable, and officers and men were the recipients of enthusiastic praise.

Major C. F. Hazen, formerly of Fairmont, now of Charleston, is one of the busiest men in camp, notwithstanding the fact that no rifle practice is required this year during the encampment. He is assisting Col. C. L. Smith in his office and treats all applicants with deference and courtesy. He thinks Parkersburg should be a little modest about that ballot business as regards the hand-somest man and think all voters were required to look over the camp before voting he would certainly be the successful candidate.

THE SICK.

Major Baguley, of Wheeling, the brigade surgeon, reports thirty-five in the hospital, owing to change of water and hot weather. He went to the city this evening and brought a goodly supply of drugs out to the camp hospital.

Colonel Ramsey, U. S. A., is a conspicuous figure about the camp. Lieut. Gen. Alex. Campbell, of Wheeling, Maj. Gen. Milt. Lowther, of Elizabeth, and Brigadier Spindler, Morris, of Ritchie, were in camp this evening showing the boys how to do it.

Corporal Frank Core, of Clarksburg, is credited with being the Clarksburg Enquirer correspondent, but he denies it.

Altogether the camp is the centre of attraction, and while it seems to be the desire of the citizens to accord the boys the best possible treatment, it is no less patent that the boys appreciate this fact and are on their good behavior.

AMONG THE CAPTAINS.

Capt. Wm. B. Sino, of Company D., First regiment, will hardly get back to Mannington whole hearted unless he deserts pretty soon.

Capt. C. D. Robinson, inspector of rifle practice, First regiment, Fairmont, the only inspector present at the encampment, is a methodical, painstaking officer and does his duty like a veteran.

Capt. J. L. Zinn, of company B, First regiment, is an Auburn, (Ritchie county) boy, but when he gets home the folks 'll think he is from sunburn.

Capt. K. B. Ash, of company F, First regiment, Burton, gives his commands with the air of one who knows his business. He can also hear without the aid of an ear trumpet and can distinguish the calls for dinner easily and gracefully.

Capt. P. D. Neal, our own Philip Doddridge, is an aide-de-camp to General Spilman, and does his duty with a sense of his importance. He is one of the pretty and favorite boys of Camp Blennerhassett.

Captain J. Alex. Parker, of Company D, Second regiment, is from away up in the mountains of Summers county, and can distinguish moonshine from sunshine without a bit of trouble. His company is also well drilled.

Captain W. H. Banks, of Company I, Second regiment, Huntington, is a relative of the famous General N. P. Banks and is all dash and vim. His boys know when he speaks and heed accordingly.

Captain Colley Shriver, of Company G, First regiment, is from the quaint old college town of Bethany. The doctor is the pride of the brigade, and that flowing beard is synonymous with everything that is either handsome or warlike.

Captain W. S. Hamilton, of Company A, First regiment, is from Ritchie county, the home of huge Republican majorities, and of course knows his duty and does it.

Capt. Leo H. Vance of Company K, First regiment, is a typical military figure. Old Company K is all right.

Capt. Phil A. Shafer, of the First regiment, is adjutant of the First, and has been knighted by Colner Freer. His title is "Knight of Chest River and Duke of Morgantown."

Capt. W. H. Hillyear, Company B, Second regiment, is from Buckhannon, but it is denied that he ever had anything to do with the "Uphar Grays."

Capt. Maurer Jenkins, Company H, First regiment, is all right. His evenly trimmed beard and imposing military bearing is the talk of all visitors.

Capt. E. F. Price, of Company C, First regiment, a Gratton veteran, is all right and knows hay-foot from straw-foot right along.

Capt. John B. White, Charleston, is Col. J. W. Ford's efficient adjutant, and the Capital City is therefore well represented.

Capt. W. M. Page, Company C, Second regiment, hails from Anstead, and is a true and tried soldier.

Capt. W. H. Lyons, of Company G, Second regiment, Huntington, was not killed at the battle of Wilson's creek, as has been reported in some histories. He is all right.

Capt. C. E. Morrison, Company E, Second regiment, (we all know Charlie) is right in it and holds his boys in hand with the best of them.

Capt. Larkin Goff, company E, First regiment, Bowlesburg, is a painstaking and careful officer.

Capt. Chas. N. Simms, company H, Second regiment, Ronceverte, is one of the captains that the ladies expect great things of.

Capt. Jas. E. Wyatt, R. P. Camden and Leah E. Bee are absent.

The big flag pole was raised to-day and the regimental colors now float above Camp Blennerhassett.

Since I have used it I would not be without it. I was always subject to cholera morbus and never found anything else that gives the relief that this remedy does. I never leave home without taking it with me; and on many occasions have ran with it to the relief of some sufferer and have never known it to fail. My children always call for 'that good medicine,' when they have a pain in the stomach or bowels." For sale by druggists.
